

Fun 😊 emoji letters in the pouch!

Useful tips for parents and teachers	Emoji letters Game example
1. How do we teach kids letters?	😊 Could you find a dinosaur? The child finds it. Your reaction: "Great job! Could you find the letter D-dinosaur in the pouch?"
ANS: Initiate a game with the child as it is shown in the examples. Have fun!	😊 What color is D-dinosaur? The child answers. Your reaction: "Great job! D-dinosaur is blue!"
2. At what age could we start teaching kids letters?	😊 How many emojis does D-dinosaur have? The child answers and gives the right answer. Your reaction: "Wow! You count so well!"
ANS: You could start when the child is about three years old.	The child answers and gives the wrong answer. Your reaction: "Lets take the letter D-dinosaur and count the emojis together. One, two... six. We did it! D-dinosaur has six emojis!"
3. How many letters could we teach a child per day?	"Now we have to stop playing with letters." The child wants to take more letters.
ANS: Only one letter per day. You keep all letters in the pouch. Only the latest letter learned by the child could be left on the fridge.	Your reaction: "You can have D-dinosaur, but the rest of the letters we'll keep in the pouch." The child insists.
4. How long do we play with the child?	Your reaction: "We can do it in a while. Could you say Ddd...dinosaur?" The child repeats.
ANS: Only one minute for the first time. You want the child to develop their curiosity for letters.	Your reaction: "Great job! Hi five!"
5. How do we name letters to the child?	😊 Additional attributes to the letters: 1. Kids learn four basic colours; 2. Kids learn counting; 3. Kids find similarities and differences between the printed letters and the magnetic letters.
ANS: We name them as they sound. For example: Letter B sounds "Bbbb... banana."
6. Why do we teach kids by sounds?
ANS: We want kids to join two sounds together for making syllables which will help them to start reading faster. The alphabet sounds such as "Bi" confuse many children and make it harder for them to learn the syllables. Close your eyes and pick a new emoji letter from the pouch! Let it be a surprise for the child! 😊
